LETTER FROM COL. MOSBY. To the editor of the Alexandria Gazette:

In an editorial paragraph in your issue of August 24th it is said that, "If a ers. It is as absurd to talk about a valueless slip of paper becomes worth a dollar simply by having the government's stamp printed upon it, why a lump of silver that can be sold for fifty three cents anywhere will not also be worth a dollar if it bears the government stamp, cannot readily be told."

Now the government stamp neither it in his vaults as a farmer making money by letting his wheat rot in his barn. It is the activity in the circulation of money based on confidence in the future that makes prosperous times. Those times will come with McKinley.

I notice that you say that Debs and Hore Meet are for McKinley. This is Now the government stamp neither gives value to the greenback nor to silver. Greenbacks were first issued in 1862 and by 1865 became so depreciated that they were worth less than 40 cents in the dollar; I mean, that their pur-chasing power was less than 40 cents in the dollar. Wages were then but very little higher than they were in gold in 1860. The government stamp on the greenback when it was so much depre-ciated was just the same that it is now. So it is not the stamp that gives value to the paper. The greenback is a gov-ernment promise to pay a dollar; it is not money but the representative of money. As they were payable on de-mand and as the government failed to re-deem them they were like the disbonored notes of an individual that have been protested in bank. As soon as the government provided a redemption fund they rose to par with gold.

The populist convention at Chicago declared war on the national banks and in favor of issuing all maney in page.

in favor of issuing all money in notes directly from the Treasury. This would demonetize both gold and silver. When the scheme for issuing greenbacks was first proposed the democratic party opposed it as unconstitutional. George H. Pendleton denounced greenbacks as having the brand of Cain upon

The silver dollar which we now have derives none of its value from the stamp upon it; that like the stamp on the gold dollar is a mere contificate of its weight and fineness. Now the test of sound money, as stated by an economist of high authority, is this: "Good money consists of coin which is worth as much after it is melted as it purports to be worth in coin." If you melt a twenty dollar gold piece the bullion is just the same value as the coin. In other words, so much money means coins whose face value is the same as their intrinsic permitted to make this extract: "I have Part S Army, able bodied value. Fiat money is that kind whose of face is greater than its market king's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of trans of the United er and temperate habital and write English, preferably by letter, to Washington Barracks, with the fact that silver dollars now circulation barracks, with the fact that silver dollars now circulation barracks, with the fact that silver dollars now circulation of this theory. Not at all; the silver dollars was brought down with Pneumonia unw in circulation were not coincil.

Trial bottles free at E. L. Allen's Drug Store. good faith of the government that gives all of its value to the greenback and one half of its value to the silver dollar. But with free coinage the gov ernment does not guarantee the value of the silver dollar; its stamp is only a certificate of its weight and fine-ness. It must go out in the world un-supported and take its chances of standing on its merits in competition with gold. If the coinage of silver dollars had not been suspended through the influence of Mr. Cleveland the silver currency would have become re-dundant and depreciated, and beyond the power of the government to maintain the parity of the two metals.

Suppose the proposition for a com-promise between the gold and silver men were made by having free coinage at 16 to 1, but without the legal tender attachment to either metal. Would the gold men accept? Certainly, because a lump of gold will buy as much and pay as much debt in its natural state as when coined. Would the silver men agree to the free coinage of library deblars, without larged, tender the safets short, lustious, and silky. The FERTILIZERS

FINE GROUND RAW BONE (warranted strictly pure).

Wer men agree to the free coinage of silver dollars without legal tender tower? No, because they know they would lose their fictitious, and sink to their real or bullion value, and could not be used for scaling debts.

This test would be required to the free coinage of silver dollars without legal tender in the world.

Why is it, if catarrh is a blood disease, as some claim, that physicians frequently a vise change of the snatts short, fust lous, and silky. The

It also shows that the volume of cirstances will they be allowed to advertise other than their legitimate business in the space contracted for.

It also shows that the volume of circulation has been doubled. Low prices are due to new inventions of machinery are due to new inventions of machinery and scientific processes, that have in-creased production more than the increase of population. It should be remembered, too, that the gold produced in any one year is not consumed like wheat or corn; no doubt there is gold that has been recoined and is now circulating as money that once bore the effigy of the Caesars. Money has been cheaper, i. c., interest has been lower in the last three years than it ever was before, which proves that business de-pression is not due to any contraction of the volume of the circulating medium. If money is lying idle in the benks it is not the fault of the bank-has been no contraction of the currency;

Herr Most are for McKinley. This is certainly a mistake as Debs has been making speeches for Bryan, but recent ly wrote a letter demanding the substitution of Tom Watson for Sewall. His objection to Sewall is that he is a rich man—president of a bank, and director in a railroad company. Bryan is a man after his own heart. If the populist schemes are carried out bank, railroads, and all the agencies of modern civilization will be abolished; farmers will haul their wheat to market in oxcarts, and there will not even be silver coins for babies to cut their teeth on as the populists propose that all money must be paper printed by the government. Two years ago Coxey and his ragged regiment camped near Alexandria; they were driven out of the State a' the point of the bayonet by order o' the governor. The stone that was rejected has become the head of the cor-jected has become the head of the corner; Coxey and his crew acted as escort for Bryan on his journey through Ohio.

If the report be true (which I don't believe) that Most is supporting McKinley, i only proves that Most is no longer an avarchist, but a repentant sinner who has joined the church. If Most had shown his face in the convention that nominated McKinley he would have been kicked out. As a simple voter he would be no more in the republic noarty (which the Gazette calls the plu ocratic party) than a drop of water in the Atlantic Ocean.

In the twin conventions that nominated Bryan; Debs and Altgeld, Coxey and Tillman were the controlling spirits that framed their platforms and dict-ted their candidates Coxey will stick to Bryan just as the albatross clung to the neck of the Ancient Mariner. Respectfully,

JNO. S. Mosey.
